

When you see a pattern where others only see a mess, when you can find a word to describe that pattern while others still say "mess"
when you link that pattern to memories of other patterns while others flounder
when you find connections while others find confusion,
Then you are a scientist ... or a nerd.

Does this thing look like the Death Star?

Does that scare anybody out there?

OMG!