Course Description: A continuation of Ceramics I, Ceramic II covers special problems in forming methods in greater depth. Individual student projects and styles will be encouraged and emphasized. An individualized course for the art major or hobbyist. Lab fee is required.

Course Co- or Pre-Requisites: ARTS 2346 or approval of the instructor

Textbook(s) & ISBN: No textbooks are required. Reference books are available in the classroom.

Required/Recommended Reading(s): Please register with ceramicartsdaily.org. This site offers a wealth of information and videos. Youtube also has a great many videos relating to ceramics.

Required Materials: Each student is expected to supply their own tools as needed, though some are available in the classroom. Tools may be collected from home or purchased in hobby shops, Online, or the school bookstore. You may order specific tools if needed from Trinity Ceramic Supply in Dallas or on-line.

Your materials fee and tuition cover a reasonable amount of clay, glazes, and kiln space. Should you need more clay than is provided and covered by your materials fee, you may purchase additional clay on your own or recycle scrap clay.

Learning Outcomes: Upon completion of this course, the student should demonstrate a master of the following learning outcomes

- Demonstrate mastery of basic skills by successfully completing a pinch pot, hand built coil pot, tall extruded coil pot, and a slab box.
- Those who choose to learn to throw on the wheel will demonstrate mastery of basic wheel-throwing skills by creating a variety of forms on the wheel.
- Produce a body of work using or combining the basic methods.
- Participate in kiln loading and unloading under supervision.

Some classes you take for a living. This one you take for your life. My goal is that we all learn something, make beautiful and/or useful things, and enjoy the process of expressing, developing, or waking up your creativity.

Course Requirements:

Grades are based entirely on work that you do in class. Attendance is vitally important! It is possible to make up an absence by attending the other session on Tuesday or Thursday, and you may wish to attend an extra session in advance to make up for a future absence. When making up for (or expecting) an absence, it is your responsibility to inform the instructor so that it may be marked on the class roll.

Non-Attendance and Financial Aid: If you are receiving financial aid, federal regulations require you to have begun attending the courses for which you are enrolled on or before the census date (e.g., 12th day of each fall and spring semester). If you are not attending your face-to-face courses, your financial aid disbursements will be negatively impacted.

Outline of Course Schedule:

The required first four projects will take approximately four weeks to complete. Once the required skills have been mastered, students are encouraged to select and develop one or more of the basic techniques to execute projects of their choice, with individual instruction as needed. Wheel work is offered but not required. Students will use different kinds of clay and glazes appropriate to that type of clay, and will assist in kiln loading and firing.

Classroom Policies:

Behavior - A relaxed and cordial classroom atmosphere is encouraged. Students who disrupt the learning environment and/or behave in a disrespectful manner toward other students or the instructor will be asked to leave the class and will not be allowed to return until they have met with the judicial officer. If asked to leave, the student will be counted absent for that class period. Students who continue to act in an inappropriate manner will be dropped from the course.

Although independence and autonomy are encouraged by allowing students to establish their own creative goals, there are some limitations that must be acknowledged, including but not limited to the making of drug paraphernalia. If you have any concerns regarding the acceptability of your proposed work, please discuss the matter with your instructor.

AN ADDITIONAL NOTE ON CLASS ATMOSPHERE

Creativity is fostered in a relaxed, cordial, positive, and productive environment. The emphasis is on cooperation, not competition. We help one another. We aim for friendliness and kindness, but courtesy and civility will work.

Some classes you take for your living. This one, you take for your life. My goal is that we all learn something, make beautiful and/or useful things, and enjoy the class.

CLASSROOM MAINTENANCE - Students will be expected to help load and unload kilns and to maintain the shelves in good condition, to help maintain a reasonably clean and orderly studio, and to keep their own work area and shared work spaces clean.

STUDENT ATTENDANCE - Your grade is based entirely on work that you do in class, so attendance is vitally important. Should you have three unexcused absences, your grade may be dropped by one letter. Subsequent unexcused absences will result in the loss of one letter grade for each absence. You may be dropped from the class after six absences. You are expected to be in class on time and to stay until the end of the class period. Failure to do so may be reflected in your grade. You may take one 10 minute break if you wish.

GRADING POLICY - Once the required four basic technique assignments are met, further projects are of the student's choice, although specific (suggested) assignments may be made if you ask. There is no set minimum number of projects required, but grades will be based on both quality and quantity of work produced. Although attendance may affect a student's grade, the general guidelines for grading are as follows:

A - Work produced shows a high level of care, craftsmanship, and/or creativity.

B - Work is good, but not A quality or does not show development in skill.

C - Projects completed, but quality and/or quantity insufficient to qualify for higher grade.

D - Better than failing.

F - Poor attendance, poor craftsmanship, indifference and/or laziness, no discernable growth, unsatisfactory or unacceptable work.

Cheating/Plagiarism:

Scholastic dishonesty shall include, but not be limited to, cheating on a test, plagiarism, and collusion. "Cheating on a test" shall include

- (a) Copying from another student's test paper
- (b) Using test materials not authorized by the person administering the test
- (c) Collaborating with or seeking aid from another student during a test without permission from the test administrator
- (d) Knowingly using, buying, selling, stealing, or soliciting, in whole or in part, the contents of an un-administered test
- (e) The unauthorized transporting or removal, in whole or in part, of the contents of the un-administered test
- (f) Substituting for another student, or permitting another student to substitute for oneself, to take a test, and
- (g) Bringing another person to obtain an un-administered test or information about an un-administered test.

"Plagiarism" shall be defined as the appropriating, buying, receiving as a gift, or obtaining by any means another's work and the unacknowledged submission or incorporation of it in one's own written work.

"Collusion" shall be defined as the unauthorized collaboration with another person in preparing written work for fulfillment of course requirements.

For example - The student who engages in cheating, plagiarism, or collusion may receive a failing grade on the assignment or the student who engages in cheating, plagiarism, or collusion may receive a failing grade in the course.

Drop Policy:

Students may be dropped from the class for non-attendance (6 unexcused absences) or for engaging in inappropriate or disruptive behavior.

A student may withdraw (drop) from a course and receive a grade of “W” at any time during a given semester subject to the last day to receive a “W” deadline specified in the TVCC schedule or catalog. (Please see information below on Developmental Course policy).
