Course Description: Students will learn the basic techniques of hand building (pinch, coil, slab and soft slab, use of molds) and/or basic wheel throwing. Once the basics have been mastered, students are encouraged to select and develop one or more of the basic techniques to execute projects of their choice, with individual instruction as needed. Wheel work is offered but not required. Students will use different kinds of clay and glazes appropriate to that type of clay, and will learn to assist in kiln-loading and firing.

Course Co- or Pre-Requisites:

Textbook(s) & ISBN: Books will be available in the classroom.

Required/Recommended Reading(s): none

Required Materials: Each student is expected to supply their own tools as needed, though some are available in the classroom. Tools may be collected from home or purchased in hobby shops or the school bookstore. You may order specific tools as needed from Trinity Ceramic Supply in Dallas or on-line.

Please register with ceramicartsdaily.org. They have a wealth of videos available.

Your tuition will cover a reasonable amount of clay, glazes, and kiln space. Should you need more clay than is provided you may purchase additional clay on your own or recycle scrap clay.

Course Requirements:

Outline of Course Schedule:

Classroom Policies:

Behavior – A relaxed and cordial classroom atmosphere is encouraged. Students who disrupt the learning environment and/or behave in a disrespectful manner toward other students or the instructor will be asked to leave the class and will not be allowed to return until they have met with the judicial officer. If asked to leave, the student will be counted absent for that class period. Students who continue to act in a disrespectful and/or appropriate manner will be dropped from the course.

Although independence and autonomy are encouraged by allowing students to establish their own creative goals, there are some limitations that must be acknowledged, including but not limited to drug paraphernalia. If you have any concerns regarding the acceptability of your proposed work, please discuss the matter with your instructor.

Classroom Maintenance – Students will be expected to help load and unload kilns and to maintain the shelves in good condition, to help maintain a reasonably clean and orderly studio, and to keep their own work area and shared work spaces clean.

Student Attendance – Your grade is based entirely on work that you do in class, so attendance is vitally important. You may make up an absence by attending the other session on Tuesdays or Thursdays, and you may wish to attend an extra session to make up for an absence even before you are absent. When making up for (or expecting) and absence, it is your responsibility to see that I mark it on the class roll.

Should you have three unexcused absences, your grade may be dropped by one letter. Subsequent unexcused absences that are not made up will result in the loss of one letter grade for each absence. You may be dropped from the class after six absences. You are expected to be in class on time and to stay until the end of the class period. Failure to do so may be reflected in your grade. You may take one 10 minute break if you wish.

Grading Policy – Once the required four basic technique assignments are met, further projects are of the student’s choice, although specific (suggested) assignments may be made if you ask. There is no set minimum number of projects required, but grades will be based on both quality and quantity of work produced. Advanced students may explore new techniques and methods and are expected to demonstrate growth in craftsmanship and/or creativity.

Although attendance may affect a student’s grade, the general guidelines for grading are as follows:

A - Work produced shows a high level of care, craftsmanship, and/or creativity. As the semester progresses, the student’s work should also show development in craftsmanship and/or creativity.

B - Work is good, but A quality or does not show development in skill level.

C - Minimal effort, craftsmanship, or creativity.

D - Better than failing.

F – Poor attendance, poor craftsmanship, indifference and/or laziness, no discernable growth, unsatisfactory or unacceptable work.

An Additional Note on Class Atmosphere:

Creativity is fostered in a relaxed, cordial, positive and productive environment. The emphasis is on cooperation, not competition.

Some classes you take for your living. This one you take for your life. My goal is that we all learn something, make beautiful and/or useful things and enjoy the class.
